Follow Your Heart

©1986 by Walkin' Jim Stoltz, Walkin' Jim Music BMI

```
      G                              C                  D
1)    In this life that we're a-livin', with all its twists and turns,
          C              Am              C              D
      It's so easy to lose our way, forget the lessons that we learn,
          C                  D     G                  C
      But the road that leads us on, will always bring us back,
              G                C                              D
      Once you've walked in your own trail and stepped in your own tracks.

2)    Truth is a word, but it's so often hard to find,
      Searchin' through the mirrors, offered up by time,
      To face it on your own, and to look it in the eye,
      Will take all you've got to give, but ain't it worth a try?

          C              D          G          C
Chorus:   Follow your heart, that's where to begin,
          G                      Em       C                  D
          Chase down those dreams, go a-dancin' with the wind,
          C                                              G
          Listen to the love that you find along the way.
          D                   Am     C       D     G
          Let your light shine in, and sing your life away.

3)    Listen to the song of the Earth as she turns,
      Bask in the life of the sun as she burns,
      Seek out the power in your own minds eye,
      Listen to your heart it'll teach you by and by.
          (Final Chorus)
```